Transforming work with Children, Youth, and Families:

March 5th, 2011, 9am—3pm

Training for Congregational Leaders

For over 50 years, Search Institute has conducted research, provided leadership, and created resources that assist individuals and communities in developing healthy and successful young people. Search understands that healthy spiritual development and healthy faith communities are key elements to young people thriving. This Search Institute training is designed to help faith communities harness their asset-building potential.

Who it's for: Educators and volunteers who work with and who help nurture the spirits of children from birth thru high school.

What you will receive:

- A strong affirmation of the role faith traditions play in promoting positive children and youth development;
- Practical strategies to energize and involve every member for faith-based asset building;
- An asset-based approach to nurturing faith development in children and youth;
- Assessment of children, youth and family programs and strategies to strengthen them;
- Practical strategies for faith-based asset building.

In Thanks

Dear KBC Family of God, With grateful hearts we praise God and thank you for your continuing prayers, telephone calls, cards and notes, emails, hospital and home visits, tasty food and sweets, and many other acts of kindness.

Bob is making progress with his outpatient therapy at St. Luke's Hospital. Thanks to the dedicated staff he is on the road to recovery. He feels lucky and so blessed. The Great Physician has been constantly by our side. We're looking forward to returning to church, and we're counting the days until spring. God is good--all the time! Blessings, Bob and Carolyn Belden
